PUBLIC ASSISTANCE ✓

Under current law, DHFS uses general purpose revenue and federal moneys received under the federal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) block grant program for providing grants to organizations that provide various types of domestic abuse services; for providing grants to nonprofit corporations and county departments of human and social services for programs to prevent and reduce youth violence, the incidence of youth alcohol and other drug abuse, and the incidence of nonmarital pregnancy; and for providing grants to American Indian tribes and bands for providing services related to vocational preparation and reducing high school dropout rates, pregnancy prevention, and developing skills to increase economic self-sufficiency. Dennis:

You do not need to create a separate appropriation for the refugee domestic violence program. You can add it to the existing program.

I am forwarding your e-mail to Pam, who as it turns out went ahead and drafted the substitution of GPR for TANF draft. She can incorporate the refugee domestic violence grant language into her draft.

Gordon,

Another issue I picked up from Erin. The Governor wants to provide $563,500 GPR annually to DHFS in its GPR appropriation for Domestic Violence grants specifically for the Refugee Family Strengthening Project (RFSP) - funding for domestic violence services to the refugee population (most funding is used to hire bi-lingual staff, especially those who speak Hmong).

Do we need to create a separate GPR appropriation in DHFS for this purpose or can we add the amount to the existing GPR appropriation and specify that $563,500 annually must be used for the RFSP?

Thanks,

Dennis

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Under current law, DHFS uses general purpose revenue (GPR) and federal moneys received under the federal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) block grant program for providing grants to organizations that provide various types of domestic abuse services; for providing grants to nonprofit corporations and county departments of human services or social services for programs to prevent and reduce youth violence, the incidence of youth alcohol and other drug abuse, and the incidence of nonmarital pregnancy; and for providing grants to American Indian tribes and bands for providing services related to vocational preparation and reducing high school dropout rates, pregnancy prevention, and developing skills to increase economic self-sufficiency. This bill maintains the funding level for these programs but replaces the TANF funding with funding from GPR.
